Experience

Today
Jan 2021 — Senior R programmer, FCA Collin for UCB, Remote/international team, involved in post-hoc analysis using R, 12 months (ongoing).
- Increase awareness of developer mindset for statistical programming (e.g. distributed version control, git branching workflow, CI/CD, Agile-inspired toolset, automated documentation).
- Develope new statistical programming outputs using R: improved graphics, reactive outputs (Shiny), interactive outputs, automated reporting.
- Develope prototypes: visualization catalogue, GxP supporting packages (e.g. standardization of validation with R, output standard annotations)
- Propose a concept: analysis as a package with automatic testing and extensive documentation.
- Try to enhance connections between statistical programmers, IT developers and end-users with emphasize on automation.
- Support general R coding upskill (e.g. training, code-review).
- Statistical programming for requests.

Dec 2020
Apr 2020 — Senior R programmer, FCA Collin for Roche, Remote/international team (from Warsaw to San Francisco) following Agile process, involved in R package development from design to execution, 9 months.
- Programming R-base suite for statistical analysis of clinical data.
- From clinical standards STDM/ADaM and analysis to Tables, Listings and Graphs (TLG).
- R for visualisation: base graphs, ggplot2, code new grid elements, Shiny Apps for interactive applications and dashboards, interactive html/js graphs.
- R for statistics: function development for standard outputs (e.g. mixed model for repeated measurements, Cox PH regressions, binary response analysis).
- R in a project: package development with continuous integration and developement with Jenkins (CI/CD), git-branching workflow, team convention and good practices for robust code.
- Large autonomy granted, proactive attitute to create value was encouraged: new ideas, identification of risks/opportunitites, generate new designs and prototypes.

Today
Jan 2020 — Independent consultant, Francois Collin, Katowice Poland, 16 months (ongoing).
- Expertise observational studies, real world evidence, study design and statistical analysis plans, biomarker identification, predictive algorithms, publication support, reporting automation.
- Portfolio: `https://fcacollin.github.io/Latarnia`
- Recent misc. assignements:
  - Clinical study - Investigate the relations between baryatric surgery, endocannabinoid systems and diabetes. Scope: SAP and execution for lab test / vital signs data and efficacy evaluation.
  - Clinical study - micro-RNA and diabetes. Scope: SAP for Next Generation Sequencing data and execution covering differential expression, classification, patient profiling, building biomolecular networks and research of genetic candidate biomarkers.
  - Real-World Evidence - Multiple Sclerosis (MS): analysis of public eletronic health records for the evaluation of MS therapies in Poland from 2014 to 2018. Two recent developments: the JCV seroconvertion for patient receiving natalizumab, the disease progression independent of relapse activity.

Dec 2019 Aug 2018	Human Genetics/Expert in Sciences and Technology, the Medical University of Białystok (Poland), Centre for bioinformatics and data analysis, 1.5 years. Research support for data analysis, machine-learning models and publication. ○ Lung cancer - Next Generation Sequencing (NGS) for prognosis, biomarker, transcriptome for the prediction of type and stage of tumor implemented in an interactive and reactive prototype. ○ Multiple Sclerosis - Observational study for post-registration therapy evaluation. ○ Diabetes - NGS/Clinical study: research of therapeutic targets via analysis of RNA-seq data. ○ Teaching: 8-hour practical for RNA-seq data analysis, PhD student co-supervisor. ○ Pharmacogenomics: PGx-based contraindication prediction. ○ Personalised Medicine: statistics, product development and prototyping for Imagene.me.
Jul 2018 Mar 2018	Service Analyst, Sopra Steria (Katowice, Poland), ITIL working environment. Analysis/resolution of L1 IT support (general assistance, customer contact).
Mar 2014 Sept 2012	R&D Researcher/Stat. modeler, Arvalis (Orsay, France), 1.5 years. Improvement of market-leader Farmstar: satellite-image based management of wheat crops.

Education

Jan 2018 Apr 2014	PhD, Dual Awarded Degree, The University of Nottingham/AgroParisTech (UK/France), 4 years. ○ Statistics: Tolerance of wheat crops to STB. Study, protocol design, Statistical Analysis Plans. ○ Project management: 1 meta-analysis + 3 experiments during 3 years in 2 countries with 3 institutes. Outcome: international conferences, peer-review articles, English-written thesis.
Sep 2012 Sep 2010	Master of Applied statistics, Agrocampus Ouest (Rennes, France), 2 years. Content: 1.5-year learning program for applied statistics + 6-month graduation internship.

Skills

Methods	Statistics from usual inferential techniques to state-of-the-art predictive/machine-learning algorithms, exploratory strategies, structure/unstructured data. Statistical programming (10 years experience). Relational database. Automated reports and dashboards.
Code/Soft.	○ Senior programmer: R, Shiny, rmarkdown, markdown for statistics, reactive prototypes, automated reporting, reproducible science and R package. ○ Daily user of git, github (branching workflow), CI/CD (Jenkins). ○ Good knowledge of SQL (PostgreSQL), LaTeX, bash, html/css, HPC and much more.
Languages	Native French; Fluent English; Polish (in progress).
